Floods of Good Merchandise at Only a Fraction of Its Cost!

There never was a time, perhaps, when a woman could dress well on so small an outlay of money as this season. The overproduction of goods has been taken advantage of by the garment makers of every class, and Dress Goods, Silks, White and Colored Wash or "Tub" materials are gobbled up in enormous quantities for a mere song and made into dainty dresses and suits at almost ridiculous prices.

Undermuslins and Children's Dresses, too, are ridiculously cheap. Low prices in Miller & Rhoads mean—first, reliable quality; as no matter how cheap merchandise is every buyer is required by this house to consider quality and style first.

It Must Be Good and It Must Be Right

Then the price is worked to the lowest level. There isn't a day that we do not readjust prices in this store. Got to!

We watch the market as the florist watches the thermometer in January. We bought large quantities of goods last week that will probably have to be sold for less than we paid for them this week.

We never consider the cost—goods were bought to sell and must be sold in a given time. That's the reason manufacturers and wholesalers unload at such losses. It's because they must, and the "must" is where the woman profits.
